Rebit™ Expands Channel with Italy's Team747

LONGMONT, Colorado
December 15, 2009

Rebit Inc., the company dedicated to relieving the burden of backup for PC users, today announced that Team747 has been named a Rebit Authorized Distributor, now offering the entire line of Rebit appliance and software CD products to its channel network in Italy.

“Team747 consistently and efficiently delivers simple, cost-effective, and quality products, services and support to a strong, loyal base of channel partners that continues to grow,” commented Ian Rothery, vice president of international sales, Rebit. “The simplicity of Rebit’s automatic backup and recovery fits perfectly with Team747’s mission.”

“Like Rebit, Team747 is focused on simple and secure technology solutions,” said Maurizio Castagna, general manager, Team747. “Rebit’s software is absolutely the best choice for those who need easy-to-use, complete PC backup that is simple and hassle-free.”

“We’re excited to now offer Rebit’s award winning backup solution to protect our small business customers’ desktop and laptop computers,” added Marco Censori, director of information technologies, Meta Informatica, a Team747 channel partner.

Rebit’s award-winning backup and recovery is so simple, it actually gets used. Rebit provides complete and continuous backup of Windows-based computers. Unlike competing products that only copy data, Rebit also protects applications, individual settings, and the entire operating system. It even maintains multiple versions of files as they change. In the event of a complete hard drive failure, a virus, or just the accidental deletion of a file, Rebit provides painless recovery using the familiar “drag and drop” feature of Windows Explorer. Rebit software CDs and appliances are available to computer retailers and resellers through ASI Computer Technologies (www.asipartner.com) and D&H Distributing (www.dandh.com). Rebit products are available to consumers at Rebit’s web site store (www.Rebit.com).
